

Subject Pronouns: Who, Which, and That (Khi đại từ quan hệ làm chủ ngữ)

When a relative pronoun is the subject of an adjective clause, use who, which, or that.

SUBJECT RELATIVE PRONOUNS
	People	Things
Extra Information (With comma)	who	which
Necessary Information (Without comma)	who that (informal)	which that

- Who is used for people, and which is used for things.
- That is used for people and things. Using that for people is often considered informal.
- Use that in necessary clauses only.

Extra Information (That không được dùng trong mệnh đề có dấu phẩy)

According to legend, Valentine's Day was named for St. Valentine.

+ He was a Roman priest.

According to legend, Valentine's Day was named for St. Valentine.

who was a Roman priest.

Roses are a typical gift for Valentine's Day. + They are usually very expensive.

Roses, which are usually very expensive, are a typical gift for Valentine's Day.

Necessary Information

In Japan, women are the ones. + They buy chocolate on February 14.

In Japan, women are the ones who buy chocolate on February 14.

In Japan, women are the ones that buy chocolate on February 14.

March 14 is the Japanese holiday. + It involves gift-giving from men to women.

March 14 is the Japanese holiday which involves gift-giving from men to women.

March 14 is the Japanese holiday that involves gift-giving from men to women.

Students deserve the best results. They worked very hard.

Students who/that worked very hard deserve the best results.

PRACTICE 9

Writing Complex Sentences with Subject Pronouns

Combine the pairs of sentences. Make the second sentence an adjective clause, and put it after the noun it modifies. Add commas as needed.

1. Many religions have food-related rules. The rules were developed for health reasons. unclear that/which
 Many religions have food-related rules that were developed for health reasons.

2. Many Christians do not eat certain foods during Lent. Lent is the six-week period before Easter Sunday. which

3. People cannot eat beef. People practice the Hindu religion. unclear who/that People who/that practice...cannot eat beef.

4. Muslims and Jews cannot eat pork. Pork is considered unclean. which

5. Muslims cannot eat or drink at all in the daytime during Ramadan. Ramadan is a holy month of fasting. which

6. The festival lasts for three days. The festival follows the end of Ramadan. which/that
 The festival which/that follows.. lasts for 3 days.

Object Pronouns: Whom, Which, That, and $\emptyset$ (no pronoun) (Đại từ quan hệ làm tân ngữ)

When the relative pronoun is an object in an adjective clause, choose the object pronoun whom, who, which, or that, or use no pronoun.

OBJECT RELATIVE PRONOUNS
	People	Things
Extra Information (with comma)	whom who (informal)	which
Necessary Information (without comma)	whom who (informal) that (informal) $\emptyset$	which that $\emptyset$

- Whom is used for people. Informally, who is used instead of whom.
- Which is used for things.
- That is used for people and things. Using that for people is often considered informal.
- Use that in necessary clauses only.

Extra Information (Không được dùng that, và không được lược bỏ đại từ quan hệ trong TH này)

James Stevenson told me about Boxing Day. + I met ~~him~~ in England last year.

James Stevenson, whom I met in England last year, told me about Boxing Day.

Boxing Day is almost unknown in the United States. + People celebrate Boxing Day in Canada, Great Britain, and other English-speaking countries.

Boxing Day, which people celebrate in Canada, Great Britain, and other English-speaking countries, is almost unknown in the United States.

Necessary Information

A man told me about Boxing Day. + I met ~~him~~ in England last year.

A man whom I met in England last year told me about Boxing Day.

The man who I met in England last year told me about Boxing Day.

The person that I met in England last year told me about Boxing Day.

The person I met in England last year told me about Boxing Day.

The festival was a joyous event. + We celebrated ~~it~~ last week.

The festival which we celebrated last week was a joyous event.

The festival that we celebrated last week was a joyous event.

The festival we celebrated last week was a joyous event.

(Chỉ lược bỏ đại từ quan hệ, khi nó đóng vai trò là tân ngữ, và trong mệnh đề KHÔNG có dấu phẩy)

PRACTICE 10

Writing Complex Sentences with Object Pronouns

- A Change the sentence in parentheses into an adjective clause. Add it to the first sentence to make a complex sentence. Add commas as needed.

1. The people in South Korea have a harvest festival that they call Chuseok.
(They call the festival Chuseok.)

2. The special food which Koreans eat on Chuseok includes songpyun rice cakes.
(Koreans eat special food on Chuseok.)

3. Kimchi, which Koreans prepare with.....spices, is also part of a typical Chuseok meal.
(Koreans prepare kimchi with cabbage, other vegetables, and spices.)

4. The traditional activities which Koreans have for Chuseok show the importance of family in Korean culture.
(Koreans have traditional activities for Chuseok.)

- B Combine the pairs of sentences. Rewrite the second sentence as an adjective clause, and put it after the noun it modifies. Add commas as needed. There may be more than one possible relative pronoun you can use.

1. There is a beautiful festival. Thai people celebrate the festival on the night of the full moon of the twelfth month of the lunar calendar.

There is a beautiful festival that Thai people celebrate on the night of the full moon of the twelfth month of the lunar year.

2. The name of the festival is Loy Krathong. English speakers translate Loy Krathong as "Festival of the Floating Leaf Cups" or "Festival of Lights."
which English speakers translate as "...".
which

3. Thais float little boats down a river in the evening. They have made the little boats out of banana leaves, lotus, or paper.
which/that

Thais float little boats (which) they have made paper down a river in the evening.

4. The Loy Krathong boats float on the water in the moonlight. Thais have decorated the Loy Krathong boats with lighted candles, incense, coins, and flowers.
which

The LK boats, which Thais have decorated with...flowers, float on the river.....

5. Thais want the wish to come true. They have made a wish with their boat.
which/that

Thais want the wish (which/that) they have made with their boat to come true.

Collocations for problem/solution

☆ problem noun

¹ sth that causes difficulties

ADJ. + PROBLEM

acute, big, enormous, grave, great, serious

Our greatest problem is the lack of funds.

| little, minor, petty | complex, complicated, difficult, knotty, thorny | growing | basic, central, main, major | common | pressing, urgent | immediate | insoluble, insuperable, insurmountable, intractable

Depression is a natural feeling if your problems seem intractable.

| long-standing, long-term, perennial | practical | technical | attitude, behavioural,
emotional, psychological

His teachers say he has an attitude problem.

| health, physical, sexual | back, heart, knee | drink, drug | social | housing | economic, financial

They sold their car to ease their financial problems.

| environmental | legal

PROBLEM + VERB

arise, come up, occur

problems arising from poor ventilation

| exist | persist, remain

If the problem persists you should see a doctor. The basic problem remains the lack of housing available.

| confront sb, face sb | lie in sth

*One problem that faces/confronts our society...
(Một vấn đề mà xã hội đang phải đối mặt là.....)*

The problem lies in the lack of communication between managers and staff.

SYNONYMS FOR “PROBLEM”

problem = issue = matter = concern = challenge = trouble = hindrance = obstacle = barrier = drawback = shortcoming = predicament = worry = riddle = burden = hassle = hurdle = inconvenience

TEMPLATE OF A PROBLEM PARAGRAPH

(negative effects)

[Clearly stating the issue.] This gives rise to several significant problems.

Job loss

[.....] is the primary problem that needs addressing. This issue has led to.....

Another issue that arises from..... is that [~~S~~—~~V~~]. One major impact of this is

..... Furthermore, [.....]. Failure to address this problem may result in..... It is vital that those mentioned problems be addressed by.....soon. Otherwise, if this trend continues, there is a likelihood that

WRITING TASK

What are the problems that AI may create for the job market?

Write a 150-word paragraph in response to the above question

Fill-in-the-Blank Exercise: AI and the Job Market (with Vietnamese support)

A. Complete the sentences using suitable phrases.

1. The rapid development of artificial intelligence (trí tuệ nhân tạo) is changing the job market in many countries.
 2. AI systems can replace human workers (thay thế người lao động) in some industries.
 3. Machines are able to take on simple tasks (đảm nhận các công việc đơn giản) faster than people.
 4. This situation may lead to job losses (dẫn đến mất việc làm), especially in factories and offices.
 5. As a result, AI may increase the unemployment rate (làm tăng tỷ lệ thất nghiệp) among workers.
 6. Many traditional jobs are threatened (bị đe dọa) by new technologies.
 7. Low-skilled workers are more likely to be at risk of losing their job (có nguy cơ mất việc) because of AI.
 8. People who do repetitive tasks (công việc lặp đi lặp lại) are especially affected by automation.
 9. The use of AI can decrease the demand for labor (giảm nhu cầu lao động) in some areas.
 10. Many workers feel stressed because AI creates job uncertainty (sự bất ổn việc làm) in the workplace.
-

B. Complete the sentences about skills and adaptation.

11. Modern jobs often require new skills (yêu cầu kỹ năng mới) that many workers do not have.
 12. Some people lack essential skills (thiếu các kỹ năng cần thiết) to work with AI systems.
 13. Older workers may struggle to adapt (gặp khó khăn trong việc thích nghi) to new technology.
 14. Workers may need upgrade/enhance their skills (đào tạo lại / nâng cao kỹ năng) to stay competitive.
 15. Many people have difficulties finding jobs (gặp khó khăn khi tìm việc) because machines do the work.
-

C. Complete the sentences about social and economic problems.

16. Today, many workers have to compete with machines (cạnh tranh với máy móc) for the same jobs.
17. Some companies rely too much on technology (phụ thuộc quá nhiều vào công nghệ) instead of human labour.
18. The use of AI can put pressure on workers (gây áp lực lên người lao động) to work faster.
19. Job losses can create financial pressure (gây áp lực tài chính) for families.
20. In the long term, AI may cause social problems (tạo ra các vấn đề xã hội) if unemployment rises.