

MUSIC WITH A MESSAGE 8

Musicians in Barcelona, Spain, perform in front of an audience of plants on June 22, 2020.

IN THIS UNIT, YOU WILL:

- Read an article about a special group of musicians
- Watch a video about a musical road
- Read an article about three musicians who bring messages of hope to the world
- Write about the life of a musician or performer you admire

THINK AND DISCUSS:

1. Look at the photo above and read the caption. Why do you think the musicians performed to plants rather than people?
2. In what ways do you think musicians can change the world?

EXPLORE THE THEME

Read the information on these pages and answer the questions.

1. Which concert had the most musicians?
2. Have you ever been to a concert or watched one on TV? What do you remember about it?
3. Why do you think musicians take part in benefit concerts?

The band Soler performs at the Live Earth concert in Shanghai, China.

Music Brings the World Together

For over 50 years, musicians have raised money and made people aware of global problems such as poverty. One way that they do this is through benefit concerts. These huge events often include hundreds of musicians playing in different cities at the same time. The four benefit concerts below have brought the world together through music.

LIVE AID

Year: 1985

Purpose: To raise money to fight famine in Africa

Place: 2 cities in 2 countries

Number of musical acts: Over 75

LIVE 8

Year: 2005

Purpose: To raise money to fight poverty

Place: 11 cities in 7 countries

Number of musical acts: Over 200

LIVE EARTH

Year: 2007

Purpose: To make people aware of climate change

Place: 11 cities in 9 countries, plus Antarctica

Number of musical acts: Over 150

GLOBAL CITIZEN LIVE

Year: 2021

Purpose: To raise money to fight poverty

Place: 17 cities in 12 countries

Number of musical acts: Over 60

Reading 1

PREPARING TO READ

- A BUILD VOCABULARY The words in blue are used in the reading passage. Read the paragraph. Then match the sentence parts to complete the definitions.

Many musicians never give up on their love for music, even during difficult times. For example, composer Ludwig van Beethoven started going deaf in his mid-20s. Even with this disability, he continued to write music. He created many pieces of classical music for instruments such as the piano and violin. Another example is Rick Allen, the drummer from the rock band Def Leppard, who lost his left arm in a car accident. He thought he wouldn't be able to perform again, but the other band members encouraged him to try. So, in concerts, Allen used a special drum set on stage, which allowed him to use his left leg instead of his arm to play the drums.

2. Can you play an instrument? What instrument would you like to play?

Critical Thinking

- D PREDICT Read the first two paragraphs of the reading passage. What do you think are some challenges musicians with disabilities face? Note down some ideas and share them with a partner. Then check your ideas as you read the passage.

Playing instruments: _____

Performing on stage: _____

The group Staff Benda Bilili performs a concert in Paris, France.

The Power of Music

- A  In 2004, a group of musicians was practicing in front of animals at the Kinshasa Zoo in the Democratic Republic of the Congo—one of the poorest countries in the world. Six years later, they were playing concerts for thousands of people around the world. It's an incredible success story.

EXTRAORDINARY PERFORMERS

- B These people were not ordinary musicians. Most of them had disabilities. This meant they performed in wheelchairs or on crutches. They also played music with homemade instruments. For example, one of the musicians played a satongé—a one-string guitar. He made the instrument out of a tin can, a fish basket, and an electrical wire.
- C The band was called Staff Benda Bilili. Ricky and Coco, the founders, had the idea for the band. Ricky sang and Coco wrote the music. Junana, the group's choreographer, designed the group's performances on stage. Coude was the band's bass player and a singer.

THE MESSAGE IN THE MUSIC

- D Staff Benda Bilili means “look beyond appearances” in Lingala, the local language. It describes the band's goal. Their first audiences were poor people who lived on the streets. The band wanted to tell the audience to be positive, even in difficult situations. “Our songs encourage kids to go to school, encourage people to work hard,” said Ricky. “The message of our music is that if you want to do something with your life, you need to take things in your own hands.”

- E The band members were examples of their message. In their minds, they were not people with disabilities—they were rock musicians. Their lively performances showed this. For example, when the band was playing, Junana sometimes jumped out of his wheelchair and danced around the stage on his hands.
- F The band often wrote songs about the life problems they faced. Many of the songs also offered solutions to these problems. For example, “Polio” is about living with polio¹ and getting around the city on crutches. It also tells parents the importance of vaccinations for their children.

FROM THE STREETS TO THE WORLD

- G When two filmmakers saw the musicians performing in Kinshasa in 2004, they decided to make a documentary. They followed the band for the next five years. The city had been through many wars,² which affected millions of people. The movie shows how the band’s music helped people survive in a very difficult environment.
- H After the movie was made, the band became well known and successful. Over the next few years, they gave more than 400 concerts in many cities and recorded three albums. The band members were able to buy houses and cars, some for the first time. And what’s more important, they gave hope to people around the world through their music.

² A war is a fight between different countries or groups within a country.

CRITICAL THINKING Understanding Idioms

Writers often use idiomatic language—phrases that have a different meaning from the meaning of the actual words used. Look at the information around an idiomatic phrase to help you understand what it means.

- D UNDERSTAND IDIOMS In the reading passage, Ricky says, "The message of our music is that . . . you need to take things in your own hands." Choose the best meaning for the phrase in bold.

- a. It's better to fix broken things than to buy new ones.
- b. Take action yourself and don't rely on other people.

DEVELOPING READING SKILLS

READING SKILL Taking Notes

Taking notes helps you understand the main ideas of a reading passage and how supporting details connect to those ideas. It also helps you organize information for writing assignments and tests. One way to take notes is to use a chart to summarize the main ideas and supporting details for each paragraph.

In the chart, do not write complete sentences. Use abbreviations (shortened words) and symbols to make note-taking easier and faster. You can abbreviate words in a way you can understand. For example, you could abbreviate Staff Benda Bilili to SBB. Some common abbreviations and symbols include:

& or +	and	>	more than
w/	with	<	less than
e.g. or ex.	example	=	is/means
→	leads to/causes	b/c	because

- A TAKE NOTES Complete the notes with information from the reading passage on pages 145–146. Write no more than three words or numbers from the reading passage in each space.

Paragraphs	Main idea	Supporting details
B–C	SBB—not ordinary musicians	- most have disabilities → perform in wheelchairs/on crutches - play homemade ¹_____ (e.g., a ²_____)
D–F	SBB—have a message & are examples of this message	- SBB = “ ³_____ ” - goal = tell audience to stay ⁴_____ - b/c audience were poor people who lived ⁵_____ - SBB see themselves as musicians, not people with disabilities → performances are very ⁶_____ - SBB write songs about their problems, e.g., a song about living with ⁷_____
G–H	Movie w/ SBB spreads message	- Filmmakers saw SBB play in ⁸_____ - Their movie showed how SBB’s music helped people survive through difficult times of war - SBB gave > ⁹_____ - and made ¹⁰_____ albums.

- B APPLY Choose a reading passage from an earlier unit. Create a chart like the one above and take notes on the passage’s main ideas and supporting details.

A sign advertises a musical road in Albuquerque, U.S.A.

Yo-Yo Ma performs in Dubai,
United Arab Emirates.

Musicians for Change

- A  Musicians around the world are sending messages of hope through their music. Below are three such musicians—one connecting communities, one saving traditional music, and another helping nature.

YO-YO MA

- B Yo-Yo Ma is one of the most famous cellists in the world. He has made more than 100 albums and played for nine American presidents. Now in his 60s, he is still hopeful about the future. This is because he believes that his music can start conversations and improve communities.
- C In 2018, he began the Bach Project—a tour around the world where he plays music by composer Johann Sebastian Bach. At each stop, he also has a Day of Action event. Ma talks with community leaders, artists, and students about local and international issues. For example, in Korea, he and a traditional kite maker visited a school. The visit gave students, families, and teachers the opportunity to decorate kites with their hopes for the future. And what is Ma's hope? "In every possible thing that we do, let's fall in love with our planet."

Arn Chorn-Pond plays his flute at a concert in the U.S.

ARN CHORN-POND

D As a child, Arn Chorn-Pond worked in a prison camp in Cambodia during the Khmer Rouge period.¹ Life in the camp was terrible. Chorn-Pond stayed alive mainly because of his skills as a musician. The camp guards liked listening to him as he played his flute.

E Chorn-Pond finally escaped into the jungle, where he lived alone for many months. Later, an American aid worker² met him and took him to the United States. When Chorn-Pond grew up, he went back to Cambodia. He learned that many traditional musicians and dancers had died during the Khmer Rouge period. Now, Chorn-Pond is working with older musicians to teach young Cambodians to play traditional music. In this way, he is helping a new generation keep their musical traditions alive—and healing³ the country.

JEN SHYU

F Jen Shyu is a singer and dancer. She can also play traditional instruments, such as the moon lute. Her parents are from Asia, but she grew up in the U.S. During her childhood, her parents took her to many national parks, where she learned to love nature.

G In a recent show, Zero Grasses, Shyu used song, music, and dance to show the connection between people and nature. For instance, in one part of the show, bird and animal calls changed to human voices singing about nature. Shyu says we need to connect better with nature—or we'll have no grass, no flowers, and no animals. After seeing her show, Shyu wants the audience to ask themselves, "How do we regain⁴ a connection lost?"

¹The Khmer Rouge period in Cambodia was between 1975 and 1979, when many people were killed.

²An aid worker is someone who helps in areas where there are wars, natural disasters, or other serious problems.

³When something bad or sick heals, it improves or becomes well again.

⁴When you regain something you lost, you get it back.

Jen Shyu performs in the Czech Republic.

UNDERSTANDING THE READING

- A UNDERSTAND MAIN IDEAS How is each musician trying to make the world a better place? Match the main ideas (a–c) to each musician (1–3) .

2. Arn Chorn-Pond worked in a prison camp during the Khmer Rouge period.
3. When Arn Chorn-Pond grew up, he went back to Cambodia.
4. During her childhood, Jen Shyu's parents took her to many national parks.

LANGUAGE FOR WRITING Using Time Expressions

We use time words and phrases to show when events or situations happened in a person's life:

in (a year or time period)

during (a time period)

when/while/after/before (an event or situation)

Yo-Yo Ma was born in Paris in 1955.

He started playing the cello when he was four years old.

After he moved to New York, he attended the Juilliard School of Music.*

During his childhood, Ma performed music on TV and even played for American presidents.*

When a time phrase or clause comes first in a sentence, a comma separates it from the rest of the sentence.

In 1998, he started an organization. → He started an organization in 1998.*

When he was four years old, he learned to play the cello. → He learned to play the cello when he was four years old.*

4. I listen to music _____.

WRITING SKILL Writing a Narrative Paragraph

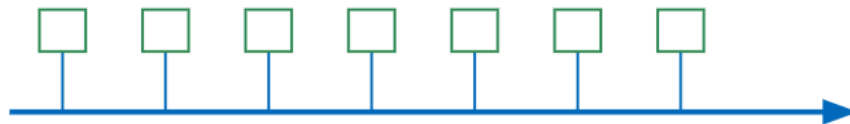

A narrative tells the story of important events in the order that they happened. A biography—the story of someone’s life—is an example of a factual narrative. To plan a narrative paragraph about a person, follow these steps:

Step 1 Make a timeline of events in the person’s life. Include major life events such as when they were born. Also include important achievements—things that make the person interesting or successful.

Step 2 Check your timeline. Delete any unimportant or uninteresting events. Make sure that you have enough events to give a clear picture of the person’s life.

Step 3 Write a topic sentence. It should introduce the person and say what makes them special.

- D Ta’Kaiya Blaney is a singer and an actress (see photo on page 159). Put the events of Blaney’s life in the correct order on the timeline.
- a. In 2016, she won an award for her music video called “Earth Revolution.”
 - b. When she was eight, she started training with a voice coach.
 - c. After that first song was a success, Blaney was asked to speak at environmental conferences. From 2011 to 2014, she spoke at several United Nations conferences around the world, such as the TUNZA United Nations Children and Youth Conference on the Environment.
 - d. By the time she was 10, she had released her first song, “Shallow Waters.”
 - e. Then, in 2020, she won an Indspire Award for her work in the indigenous community.
 - f. Ta’Kaiya Blaney was born in 2001 in Tla’amin Nation, a community in Canada.
 - g. Today, she continues to create music that spreads positive messages about the environment.

- E Choose the best topic sentence for the narrative paragraph about Ta’Kaiya Blaney.
- a. Ta’Kaiya Blaney is a Canadian musician who has also appeared in some movies.
 - b. Ta’Kaiya Blaney is an indigenous musician who is working to protect the environment.
 - c. Ta’Kaiya Blaney has won lots of awards for her movies and her music.

• • • F Read the paragraph about the composer A.R. Rahman. Then answer the questions below.

1. Which sentence (1–8) is not relevant to the narrative? ____
2. Which sentence is in the wrong place? ____
3. Where should that sentence go in the paragraph? Choose the correct option.

The sentence should go after sentence 3 / 5 / 7.

¹A.R. Rahman was born in Madras, India, in 1967. ²When he was 11 years old, he dropped out of school and became a professional musician. ³Even though he was young, he played music with some very famous Indian musicians, including Zakir Hussain. ⁴After he came back to India, he started composing music for TV programs, advertisements, and, later, movies. ⁵Rahman received a scholarship to study music at Oxford University. ⁶Oxford University is a famous university in England. ⁷After Rahman got his degree, he returned to India. ⁸In 2009, Rahman won an Academy Award for his music for the movie Slumdog Millionaire.

• • • G Choose the best topic sentence for the paragraph in Exercise F.

- a. A.R. Rahman is one of the world's best-known Indian musicians.
- b. A.R. Rahman is known for giving money to charity.
- c. A.R. Rahman has produced many famous pieces of music throughout his career.

H Make a timeline of your life. Note down at least four important events and achievements. Then write a short narrative about your life. Use the time expressions from the Language for Writing box on page 155.

in Unit 3.

- E FIRST DRAFT Use the information in your outline to write the first draft of your paragraph. Use time expressions and remember to put the events in the correct order. Refer to the writing model below to help you.

WRITING MODEL

Yo-Yo Ma, the American cellist, connects people around the world through music. Ma was born in Paris, France, in 1955. He started playing the cello when he was only four years old. When he was seven, Ma moved with his family to New York City. In New York, he attended the Juilliard School of Music. When he was at Harvard University, he played the cello professionally. In 1998, Ma founded an organization called Silkroad. Ma has played music with musicians from places like Iran, Mongolia, and Italy. Today, Silkroad helps people all over the world appreciate different types of music.

- F REVISED DRAFT Use the questions below to revise your paragraph.

- ☐ Did you include a topic sentence about the person you are writing about?
- ☐ Did you put the events in order of when they happened?
- ☐ Do all the events relate to the person's life?
- ☐ Did you use time expressions correctly?

- G FINAL DRAFT Follow these steps to write a final draft.

1. Check your revised draft for mistakes with time expressions.
2. Now use the checklist on page 203 to write a final draft. Make any other necessary changes.
3. Work in pairs and read your partner's final draft. Give feedback on each other's paragraphs.
